DiscussIT Topic 6: Where is our country headed?

Discuss IT Topic: Over the last week, our country has had growing concerns on immigration bans, border safety, and executive orders that remind us of issues that have been plaguing our country for years. Now that Trump has been elected President, there has been people threatening to blow up the White House, human right protests, and a plethora of other sensitive subject matters that are very compelling to individual groups of people. Why have these issues come up now as we head into a time in which it seems no one is going to be happy with the outcomes? Will this create a split in this country and place citizens against one another when it comes to their views? In your opinion, what other topics are at the forefront of concern? Explain...

Response: Please make sure all grammar, spelling, indentation, and punctuation is correct.

These issues have been around for a while now, people have just been waiting for someone to take the blame or be a figure for or against these issues. The recent presidential election has given people a figure and figures to put the blame of these issues on. The country I believe is already split with those who believe this new government will destroy this country and those who believe it will save it. There are already cases of citizens going against each other like protests at places like UC Berkley. Other topics that are at the forefront of concern are the situations with nuclear bound countries like iran and north korea who are on the verge of developing nuclear missles.
